TESTIMONY: There is no question but what I was late getting my report in.

In my defense, I have always gotten a courtesy letter from the Secretary of State's office reminding me of the upcoming due dates. Even when I am out of town, I have my mail opened and things like this are reported back to me and I see that they get done. Also, the County has issued letters of this kind in the past. This year I received nothing. When I called the Secretary of State's office and said that I had not received the regular letter, I was informed that sending letters is no longer the policy since the dates are printed in the Campaign Finance Manual. When I attended the treasurers' workshop, it was not mentioned that we would no longer be notified by mail.

I realize that the dates are listed, but I had become accustomed to this matter being drawn to my attention by the courtesy letter.

Thank you.
